Dear Underhill,

The book was published in South Africa yesterday, and I think it was published at the same time in England.

In your letter of September 13 you refer to "indiscretions". In actual fact you once wrote to JHH about this and this is quoted in the biography.

I cleaned up the study in which I have been working for three years on the book, and went through all the papers very carefully. I sent a packet of Hofmeyr's letters to you by seammil about a week ago. They are only a portion of the entire correspondence. We made copies of the earlier letters and returned these to you some years ago. I do hope earnestly that I am right about this. It is my wife's recollection also.

I hope to hear from you when you have finished the book. It will remind you of much that you know, and tell you many things that you don't.

Best wishes.

Yours sincerely,
