Dear Keith,

Many thanks for your list of distances. I cannot for the life of me say why Nokaneng should be printed in capital letters.

I do not know when I am likely to be passing Balgowan and to drop in for the sundowner, but I have heard you were in Durban and did not drop in here. Reg was quite astonished to realise that a person could look more repulsive without a beard than with one.

I do not really know how grateful I am to receive the list of mileages. The fact that you say they are not accurate fills me with insecurity.

Did you read yesterday that Jock has been seeing flying saucers? Well, well, what next?

Yours sincerely,

Alan
