Dear Mr Brown

I am sorry to have taken so long to reply to your letter of 24 September. It is because I was thinking about whether I could commit myself to an end of January deadline and have concluded that I cannot. January is family holiday time, and includes a week spent at the Joint Matriculation Board meeting. Between now and mid-December I see nothing but examining and therefore must regretfully say I could not comply.

Thank you again for asking me.

Yours sincerely
