Dear Dr. O'Brien,

David Welsh has given me your address and I am writing to ask whether you would be prepared to do an article for our journal, REALITY, early next year ?

I am enclosing two recent copies of the journal so that you can see what it is all about. In general our line is "Liberal", with an occasional "radical" article.

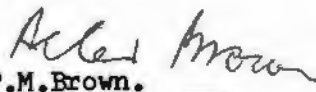

We are thinking of devoting our March 1987 number, for which the deadline would be the last week in January, to discussion of current educational problems. We are hoping to have an article on "People's Education", one on a possible future synthesis of "Peoples" and "Liberal" education, and so on.

We would very much like to include an article from you on your views on the future of university education here, after what happened during your visit.

Would you consider doing such a thing ? And if you would, could you meet that deadline ? Although our articles vary quite a lot in length we usually aim for something of about 3,000 words. The other thing I should tell you about them is that we can't afford to pay for them!

With best wishes.

Yours sincerely,

P.M. Brown.
