Dear Professor Ashley,

You should have received by now my letter of a day or two ago which crossed yours in the post.

I am very sorry that January is no good for you, but I fully understand why it is not. I think we will probably go ahead with an issue basically along the lines I suggested in the letter and then, perhaps, if you feel like taking up any of the points made in the articles, you could do that in a later number? Would you think about that?

Yours sincerely,

P.M. Brown.
