Dear Mrs. Grieve,

Thank you very much for your donation and for your letter.

We will be very sorry to lose you as a subscriber but I can understand very well your reasons for not wishing to renew your subscription after this year. Apart from the fact that we are all getting older, it is difficult to keep ploughing one's way through news and articles which never seem to have much very cheerful to tell one. I know I have to brace myself to open the Weekly Mail at the beginning of each week!

Thank you very much for your support over all these years and if, as might well happen in our rather amateurish organisation, you are sent a renewal notice by mistake in a year's time, could you just remind us then that you don't want to renew your subscription?

Yours sincerely,
