Dear Sir,

I write to ask about a young African, Harvey Makathini by name, who has just been to see me to apply for a job as assistant Social Worker at our African Social Centre.

I understand that for the past year he has been employed in your Bank. Before deciding either for or against him I thought it only fair to write and ask you if you thought he might be at all suitable for this type of work and if you could recommend him.

I am sorry to worry you but would be most grateful if you would let me know your opinion of Makathini.

Yours faithfully,

(Social Worker).
