Dear Ms Rash,

The person to get in touch with over the Ezakheni bus boycott is Mr. Elliot Mngadi, P.O. Box 43, Ezakheni.

Hasn't the Institute got a member in Ladysmith who could go and see him and make the arrangements? That would be the easiest way of making sure that you see him. Otherwise you might go there and find your letter making the arrangements had never reached him and that he wasn't there when you arrived.

I think I would first try a Ladysmith member. If that doesn't work, write to him suggesting a place to meet in Ladysmith on a certain day, and asking him to let you know if the day doesn't suit him. You could try to confirm whatever arrangement you suggest by phoning Ezakheni 5, which is the bottle store and owned by a Mr. Dlamini. Ask him if he would go and see Mr. Mngadi to find out if he is expecting you and then tell Mr. Dlamini you will phone back at a set time to find out what Mr. Mngadi has to say.

Sorry this is so complicated but meeting him is complicated.

Yours sincerely,

John Mow
