Dear Praveen,

Thank you very much for your letter telling me all the family news and that the money had arrived safely. I sent off another registered envelope on July 30th, which should have arrived by now.

As far as a visit to the farm is concerned I expect that a Sunday or perhaps even better, a Saturday, is what would suit you. We have an arrangement now where Mr. Batchman is on duty one week-end, Christopher the following one, and I am then on for the next one. We should try to arrange a Saturday when I am on duty so that we can go round together. What I suggest you do when you think you might be free is to phone some weeks ahead so that we can arrange for your visit when I am on duty.

Thank you for your suggestion about possibly being able to arrange employment for some of the people on the farm when they leave school and look for work. We could discuss that when we meet.

Please give my best wishes to your wife and everyone else in the family.

Yours sincerely,
