Dear Magnus

As you are interested in the Harris case (which marked the end of the road for the ARM, the Liberal Party, and much else in South Africa) I've set down some facts you may find useful as background material. If only 5% of all this stuff turns out to be useful that would be good enough for me.

With few exceptions these notes are based not on fickle memory but on written records preserved since 1964/5, and may be taken as 95% accurate. But as you're writing history it would be wise to check as much as you can against court transcripts etc.

If you'd like me to comment on draft texts please don't hesitate to ask - though it's your decision what use (if any) you make of any observations I may offer.

All best

Maritz
