Dear silent man,

A piece appeared in the Mail & Guardian yesterday (p.10, if you get it or want to look it up on the web) about the ARM, headed "CIA, MI6 funded early armed struggle". It is based on a piece in Noseweek, which I have yet to see, and says that the funds for the 'plane, boat etc came from those sources. Lang is mentioned, and the source appears to be something in the possession of the SB written by him on thre subject. Nothing is said about Nkrumah, the 30,000 pounds or the 4,000 per month from that source. Do you want to take it up, or should I direct the M&G to you?

You might some time, and at your leisure, comment on my earlier speculations on the Rondebosch haven mentioned in your Majija bit - not to mention write ion reply to my other emails. I shall be here for another 2-3 weeks before returning to Lyon. Use snail mail if you prefer - the delay appears to be about the same in your case.

Yours,

Neville
