

Subject: Re: [Fwd: Returned mail: User unknown]
Date: Mon, 02 Apr 2001 15:59:49 -0400
From: magnus gunther <magnusg@magma.ca>
To: nrubin <nrubin@compuserve.com>

keetves
SA

Dear Neville,

Delighted to get a reply and to see you still in top form.

Of course, a wrong address solution was one too simple for my overeducated mind to consider.

Good to see your memory not so good--I was the one to tell you about Kiley's appointment. But Guy's role is fascinating news. A public management manager is a new title to me. Sounds like a major appointment? Wonder what he thinks of the big K?

I gather K much in the British newspapers.

Re my SA visit. There was a huge delay in approving my grant to go to SA for a month-to visit the four universities, Came thru just some weeks ago. This has created scheduling problems since my visit was supposed to be either in Feb or early April. Two universities have now said I shd come in the next term so will be coming later in the year--exact dates still under negotiation. but it looks likely to be when you are there

My first paper, as I think I told you earlier is on the topic of what did the BCL members think they were doing.

RV in an interview says that some people thought that v gradually ARM might provide a bridge between a bodiless ANC and a headless PAC.

Then a couple of nights ago I was with Al Cook, Collins no 2 and drinking buddy who says he saw ARM as mainly anti-communists hoping to get control of the AA movement.

Any thoughts on these two points?

I just got the next part of the Noseweek rubbish--still plugging on with their Mccarthyite drivel and still all cribbed from later parts of Swanepoel.

Glad to hear the VW case is going well-it must be an immense amt of work

Keep well,

Magnus

nrubin wrote:

- > Mon Vieux Ami,
- >
- > The moving hand, etc.
- >
- > Suggestions:
- >
- > 1. Your Jungian SuperEgo is reminding you that delays in correspondence are
- >
- > something of a speciality with you.
- >
- > 2. If you look carefully at the piles of address nonsense that appears at
- > the top and bottom of the suspect missive, you will see that it is
- > addressed to someone called "Nevile@magma.ca" - whoever that may be -
- > which

- > suggests that you copied the message to yourself, as I now have to do on
- > my
- > system if I want to keep copies of what I write.
- >
- > 3. It could of course be your pals in the CIA just trying you on for size.
- >
- > (Did you know that my son Guy is now having to cope with - more politely,
- > relate to - one R. Kiley because he (Guy) has taken up a post as Public
- > Management Manager to the Mayor of London? )
- >
- > Sorry I missed seeing Jan.
- >
- > When are your lectures to be exactly, and where?
- >
- > Much embroiled in the Volkswagen business, which goes to the Labour Appeal
- >
- > Court next week. If we go down there, too we'll go on to the
- > Constitutional
- > Court whenever it can find time for us.
- >
- > Yours,
- >
- > Neville