Dear Magnus,

Good to hear from you at last (the thing on Durban has not reached me here, and didn't get to Lyon, or it'd have been sent on).

V. sorry to hear about the resurgence of Crohn's, but pleased to hear your over it now,

Thanks for the suggestion re the flat. Letting these days is in the hands of Muriel, who'd like to pursue the matter directly with your chum, probably on the basis of a straight rental for one year at least. She'll be back in Lyon from Thursday and can be contacted at our flat there - (33)4 78 27 42 35 or at mr65@tutor.open.ac.uk it might be an idea to copy email correspondence to me, for re-routing should there be any complications over reconnecting to her email at once).

My father, I'm afraid, is smitten with inoperable cancer of the oesophagus and the upper stomach and wouldn't be much use anyway for the stuff you want. His 'political' papers were all donated to the Paton Collection at the UN(P) library in Maritzburg, where you can consult them.

On the substance of the thing, it's possible Zwane was the courier of the letter - though I rather doubt it. But you can use me as the authority for the FACT that Lang was the recipient of the Nkrumah money, though I've no idea what channel was used for the letter(s). The High Commission in London, would be my guess.

When are you and Jan coming out here again?

Yours,

Neville
