Dear Robert,

I have a feeling that I have troubled you about this before, in which case you must forgive me. I think you gave me some figures and I lost them, and I have a most terrible feeling that you gave them to me again, but I cannot find them. The question I believe can only be answered from CROCKFORD, and I think that only the Archbishop or the Diocese has a set. The question is, how many priests and deacons were there in the Diocese of Johannesburg when Geoffrey Clayton went there in 1934?

Of your great patience, do this for me again.

Yours ever

Alan Paton
