Dear Mrs. Lessing,

I am the person who is writing the biography of the late Archbishop Clayton. The snapshot is very interesting, but I shall have to ask the publisher whether it is possible to use it. It is particularly interesting to me because Archbishop Clayton was certainly very nervous of women, but it does look as though he has one arm round Mrs. Brinsloo and one round Sylvia Larkin.

I am very grateful to you for sending the snapshot, and I will return it to you in due course.

Yours sincerely

Alan Paton
