Dear Dr. Kahn,

Thank you for your letter of September 12. At the moment I am negotiating with a Mrs. Hackel of Johannesburg in regard to the German translation. If nothing should come of this arrangement I shall let you know at once.

You will, no doubt, be surprised to see the enclosed copy of a letter from Sir Alexander Korda to James Stern. I was, of course, very noncommittal when I wrote to you, and frankly, I expected nothing more than an equally non-committal reply from Sir Alexander. You will see, however, that his letter to Mr. Stern is most cordial, and you will, I am sure, be pleased to think that your kind idea may bear some fruit.

Yours sincerely,
