Dear Mr. Thomas,

I shall certainly forgive you for the delay in answering my letter of January 12. Do not return the material but wait until I send you the earlier chapters. Don't forget that I still cherish the hope that the reading of this material might stimulate you to help me with one topic which I have treated very sketchily, namely, Hofmeyr's relations with his students.

I am glad you found the story interesting. I find the entire story interesting and only hope readers will find it likewise. I do not know when I shall send the earlier chapters but shall do so as soon as possible.

Kind regards.

Yours sincerely,
