Dear Members of the cast,

The great day is drawing near, and I wish all of you success from the bottom of my heart. I feel sure that you will all do your best for Krishna. It will be a wonderful thing for you all if you have success on Broadway.

To all of you, and especially to those of you who wish to make a success of the acting profession, I would say that not only talent is needed, but also hard work and self-discipline.

I write this in a fatherly way because there is nothing I would like more than to see better and better opportunities for African actors.

Affectionate wishes to you all,

Yours sincerely,
