

27/2/82

Dear Phyllis,

Thanks so much for the letter we received on 4/1 this year. It was good to hear from you. Colin must have been a very impressive man. Unfortunately we can't say we knew him personally. Nigel met him once in U.K. when I was sick in bed. I remember, I was so cross with myself resp. with my body! The loss of people like him are felt most, when they are no more among us.

Here in Ghana, we experience changes, welcomed by the majority of the people, especially the workers and in general those regarded as 'have-nots'. They are now invited to determine their own future and fate not only being victims. However, the task ahead is very difficult: After all, it's been a military take-over, without an organized basis. Secondly, what is termed 'corruption' has not been a phenomenon restricted to the elite. We do hope that the Ghanaian people will in the end benefit from current changes.

As we are making plans, we would like to tell you that we are about to fix everything for our long planned and announced visit. So we are determined to introduce your little daughter to you at the end of April. We intend to stay for approx. 3 weeks in the country, before leaving for Europe for 2 more months. Hope this will suit you. We want to visit
