re: ex parte Mason - Deletion of Restrictive Conditions from Titles.

In this matter Mr. Justice Broome today delivered a lengthy reserved judgment discharging the rule nisi with costs - in other words, applicant has failed and must pay the Corporation's costs of opposition.

As we anticipated, the sympathy of the Court was against us, but the legal principles were held to be sufficient authority for the Council's opposition.

The judgment was a closely reasoned one and we assume you will desire to have a copy for your records in view of the importance of the issues involved. We shall await your instructions as to having a copy thereof.
