Dear Phyllis,

The news of the brutal and criminal attack on our friends and fellow believers in liberation from the white yoke in southern Africa has just come through on my radio. I pray and hope for your safety - knowing that so many have been killed and other injured. Know that millions curse and would exterminate this villainous breed of dictators and tyrants who now enjoy their brief moment of power.

God let you be safe. I have telegraphed about your welfare but cannot send this mail for some days since Sandhi is in a remote village. If the cable is blocked, cable me on receiving this letter -
VITAPRE DACCA (my cable address).

Know that I, and so many others, are with you in this time of urgency. We believe in your struggle.

Nicholas.
