Dear Phyllis

Thank you for your letter which I was pleased to receive.

I have been trying to sort out very complicated immigration procedure and I will now give you the request as far as I have been able to understand it. As to whether you would be able to teach if you came here I think this would depend on whether your qualifications are considered comparable with the equivalents here.

I should think that they are

Now we come to the tricky problem of who is entitled to enter Britain - As far as I can make out you have automatic right of entry if you were born in Britain

Have a UK parent
UK citizens with 5 yrs UK residence.

down as I don't know
which one is applicable.
I am sorry - it all looks such a tangle of regulations.

As I think I told you I went to Germany in December
and also to Salzburg
which is a city with a stunning situation and attractive old buildings.
While I was there I visited Mozart's
birth place of course!
and you could hear the

or you have a UK born grandparent.

Or If you are a Common wealth citizen with a UK born parent.

you do not have right of entry if you are a citizen of an independent non-Commonwealth non EEC countries, you cannot take a job in Britain and need a work permit and also would have to report to the police.

I put all the alternatives with as usual

However I am on my own today and so I am hoping to catch up

The odd when you think of it here am I sitting by the fire surrounded by the Sunday papers, on large cat Henry listening to rock music while I write to you.

Sincerely

Christina

Mozart conservatoire music following down the stairs, I managed to make myself understood in Germany with my tin words of German. The security at Munich airport was naturally very strict

I am sorry to hear that you have had this extra grief.

At the moment
I am rather busy with the University work
where I am behind
