

66 Bridge St
Derry,
N. Ireland.

Dec. 4 74.

Dear Phyllis,

You will think I have forgotten you after so long. There are ~~two~~ things here prevented my writing, one I've not been too well & as I'm past 70 years it takes time to pick up & secondly I've spent more time in trouble from Ireland where things are always happening & here seems little time to compose oneself to write except when too tired in the evening.

I hope things are more settled with you now. How are the boys & Suthi? It was an upheaval for them but by now they should be over it, children adapt very well usually.

Life for us is still quite busy here & no one has yet solved Ireland's problems

I go or come according to how tired I am & shall be going back to Norfolk shortly, spending Christmas with friends & on the way. I find travelling very tiring but seem to do more & more as I get older.

We have had a marvellous Autumn here with the leaves in their beautiful colours lasting a long time. The countryside here is very lovely.

with love & best wishes

Nellie

