

5/74.

Dear Phil,

This with the same old clummy but unshaking love. Thanks for the book and the photos. Unfortunately I couldn't lay my hands on any of ours — we hardly keep any actually, and haven't had time to organise some with the time available. I promise to send them soon.

I've heard everything I've always wanted to hear from these chaps. My only comment at this stage is that I love you even more. If you should now and again find that you are at the point of tears just remember that those tears are far too precious to me and hundreds of others to be shed over — .

I've thoroughly enjoyed myself with these chaps. I think Zak is marvelous.
Betty just loves him and thinks he's fantastic. Actually, I don't know that my marriage would have been safe if this charming fellow had stayed longer.

I'm going to do every thing in my power to give them as much work as I can out here. I must thank you for having made it possible for me to meet them. In their company I feel as if I was back in Durban - with you in particular. I was amazed at how grown the boys are. Time does so fast doesn't it. Of course I have no recollection of my daughter; I think she hadn't arrived when I left; she's very pretty. How many cattle would you want? - Spatnik is there you know, and fairly edible.

I've heard about your problems re your admission. What a pity you can't come and join me. It would be terrific having you in my very inefficiently run office - thanks to Rowley.

Keep well. We keep you in our thoughts always. Betty sends her love.

Yours affectionately
Khalaki
