Dear Phyllis,

Your unanswered letter still stands with a pile that will left behind, when he collapsed & died in June.

He had never really recovered from the heart attacks in South Africa. Actually I believe he strained his heart by the work he did & the life he led in N. Ireland. He was so concerned about things that he never spared himself. I could never get him to come away & really relax. He did not like being a semi-invalid all this past year.

I have had many letters & tributes to him from many people.

Your letter sounds full of hope. I hope that since your operation you are feeling fit.

Sudhithi will be 14 now. I expect she has grown into a pretty young lady. She looked sweet as a little girl when you sent us a snap. What is she interested in at school? My eldest granddaughter aged 8 has just joined "Brownies" (the junior Guides) & has to day taken a test for a cooking badge & brought us home some nice cakes for tea.

Our eldest son's wife has died of cancer at the early age of 36 & left him with 4 children the youngest still a baby so I have been busy without writing answers to letters.

All my love Nellie
