

that five of the thirty million inhabitants suffer from hunger. Government estimates are often on the low side.
Up until recently, Russia was taking grains ~~fr~~ out of Ethiopia. I only hope that Ronnie does not cut off U.S. aid here in his anti-red rage.

Guess what? just one day <sup>after</sup> I sent a where are you letter to Michelle and Larry, I received a postcard from Larry, in Spain (mental telepathy I suppose). He is doing consulting work, also joining the jet set, and sounded good.
Finally I heard from Gabriella. The combination of her Germanic English and unreadable handwriting make it difficult to tell you what she said. I think that after a little bit of adjustment to her fellow Germans, decisions about school, jobs, and home, she has now begun to settle in and looks forward to finding her place in Germany again.

I can't send you a photo of Cliff yet, but I will get a copy of one of my slides for you. He would kill me if he knew. He wouldn't even send a photo to his own mother! He has finally settled onto his farm and begun planting with the help of a couple from his farm in California. They moved in just before I left so I have not visited yet. There is a fireplace and a woodburning stove. I'd like to have a go at baking bread on the stove.

I miss you and Sukthi a lot. Any chance she can stop in to see my poor?

Keep well

Love as always

Rhonda
