

particularly that part about "Almighty Father, keep our husbands from looking at foreign women..." (with all the Indian beauties around!) Monroe will protest when he reads that...

We had a good letter from Sukhs this week (hey, Phyllis - that daughter of yours can really write when she has a mind to!) She tells us your trip is on for 1984 -- & all along we thought it was this year. Oh, well - though it means a longer wait for you & Sukhs, it also means we may be back in the States by then. So, that should make a rendezvous much easier. Perhaps, if you are going from Canada to Cuba, you could stop at my home, or Monroe's home - wherever we are at the time. Both sets of parents would certainly love to meet you both - having heard so much about you over the years. The possibilities sound exciting. It will take some planning, since there must be lots of people here who will wish to see you - (including that Royal crew in the mid-west)

We've been attending meetings here on democratic socialism (its role in the 80's, its role in India & with labor parties.) Fascinating talks & discussions giving us opportunity to understand the Indian political scene better & to meet some great people.

This afternoon we head to some friends for supper (the guy was formerly Monroe's Peace Corps director here - now head of CLUSA) - He's married to an Indian - & she & I will have cooking lessons tonight (potato parathas, dhal, veggies, etc!) The men will, I assume, watch the Wimbledon finals on T.V.! - but will eat up when all is finished! Of course he & Monroe have weigh-ins everytime we get together to see who has lost the most weight. (Afterward comes the sitting) Lucky for Monroe there is none of that "disgusting" custard pudding here he used to pour all over everything! // Can you believe -- almost 3 yrs. since you all gave us that lovely wedding - next yr. this time, perhaps we'll be together - Much love to you both, Fern
